SENATOR HARDING TO TAKE VACATION

REPUBLICAN CANDIDATE WILL TAKE MUCH NEEDED REST
BEFORE ENTERING THE POLITICAL CAMPAIGN

By the Associated Press

WASHINGTON, June 15.—Senator Harding, the republican presidential nominee, said today he hoped to wind-up matters pertaining to his senatorial duty by the end of the week, and then take a brief vacation before returning to his home at Marion, Ohio, where he will be formally notified of his nomination. The republican nominee, however, does not plan to reach Marion much before July 1st. During his vacation he will confer with Chairman Hays of the republican national committee and other republican leaders and prepare his speech of acceptance. He had not declared today where he would spend his vacation.

MEXICAN GENERAL WINS LEGAL POINT

By the Associated Press

MEXICO CITY, June 15.—Gen. Francisco Murguía, who with Gen. Urquiza Mariel Montes and Barragan, is imprisoned in connection with events that occurred prior to the death of former President Carranza, has won a point in connection with his trial on charges preferred against him. He appealed to the first circuit federal court, complaining that he was being tried by military authorities while federal officials had charge of the case. The court has ruled that he will remain subject to the fourth district tribunal. Other generals have made similar appeals.

Box Car Robbers Given Sentences In County Jail

Ed Stidley and Jack Ross were sentenced to thirty days in the county jail by Justice Brown yesterday on a petit larceny charge. They are two of the lads who were arrested several weeks ago charged with breaking into box cars at Francis. They are only sixteen years of age. The county attorney agreed to a reduction of the charge from grand larceny to petit larceny on their plea of guilty.

John Stidley, who was the youngest of the three, was sentenced to the state training school at Pauls Valley several weeks ago and is now serving time at that institution. The boys are strangers in this county, claiming to live in Oklahoma City and Ardmore. It is believed that they were working for a gang of burglars and that some man or men received the property they were stealing.

LAFOLLETTE LEADS REFERENDUM VOTE

By the Associated Press

CHICAGO, June 15.—Senator Robert M. LaFollette is leading in the referendum vote which is being taken among the members of the committee of the forty-fourth as a suitable candidate for the presidential nomination, according to a statement at the party headquarters last night.

Muskogee Phoenix: Governor Allen has probably injured his reputation with Mr. Bryan considerably by quoting Omar Khayyam in connection with General Wood, although there are certain other quotations he might have quoted considerably more painful to a prohibitionist.

Receiving Stolen Goods Is Charge Against Roff Man

Owen Kelly of Roff was arraigned in Justice Brown's court yesterday afternoon on a charge of receiving stolen property and was bound over to the district court. The charge against Kelly was a development of the robbery of J. A. Hart's store at Fitzhugh some months ago when burglars broke into the store and stole a quantity of jewelry. Kelly is accused of having received some of the stolen jewelry.

PROCTOR ASSAILS COLUMBIA HEAD

SAYS BUTLER'S STATEMENT
CONCERNING WOOD'S CAM-PAIGN FOR NOMINATION WAS WHOLLY FALSE.

By the Associated Press

CINCINNATI, June 15.—Colonel William Cooper Proctor, manager of General Wood's unsuccessful campaign for the republican presidential nomination, today sent a telegram to Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler, saying that his statement given out yesterday relative to General Wood's support was wholly false and was given out with malicious disregard for the truth.

GOTHAM GETS THE "OWN YOUR HOME" FEVER

By the Associated Press

NEW YORK, June 15.—An "own your own apartment" movement is in full swing here. Two late evidences of its growing strength are the purchase by the tenants for $2,500,000 of an apartment house on Fifth avenue and the starting of construction on a co-operative apartment on Park avenue, which is to cost $4,000,000.

Just the other day it was announced that Woodrow Court, an apartment house occupying the entire block front on upper Broadway, between 169th and 170th streets, had been sold for $600,000 to the 53 families residing in the structure. This is said to be the first deal of such magnitude to be 100 per cent co-operative and in which tenants of moderate means have participated. In this deal each tenant only put up a few thousand dollars in cash. In the Fifth avenue transaction each tenant was called upon for $150,000 in cash.

Starting about eight months ago, the transactions in co-operative buying of apartments have mounted in volume until they are presently a fixture of realty dealings and all of the larger real estate agencies maintain special departments in which the employees do nothing else but handle the sales of apartment houses to tenants. This is generally a profitable transaction for the owner for tenants are willing to pay more to retain their homes than speculators or investors would pay and it is said to be profitable for the tenants in that they assure themselves of homes at a cost of only about seven years average rentals.

The shortage of office and commercial space has been only second to that for housing purposes in New York and co-operative purchasing of office and loft buildings by tenants has begun, although it has not yet reached the proportions of apartment purchasing by tenants. Transactions in business buildings differ from apartment sales in that while co-operative buying is done it is seldom 100 per cent so, the usual deal involves the purchase by a club of a half dozen or so business tenants, who apportion the space among themselves and then lease the remainder. The management in both cases is generally vested in some well-known agent under the direction of the tenant-owners.

NOMINEE TO SERVE SENATORIAL TERM

By the Associated Press

WASHINGTON, June 15.—Warren G. Harding, the republican presidential nominee, does not intend to retire from the United States senate until his term of office expires on March 4th. "There is no possibility of that," Senator Harding declared today, when asked whether he would resign from the senate immediately.

"I do not intend to resign but intend to serve my constituency. I intend to withdraw my petition filed last week in Columbus, giving notice that I would be a candidate for reelection to the senate. That will be done this week."

Senator Harding's friends explained today that for him to resign from the senate would endanger the narrow margin of control held by the republicans there, as his retirement would enable Governor Cox of Ohio, to appoint a democrat in his place.

The senator was at his office early today winding up senate business. His only fixed engagement was with Leslie M. Shaw, former secretary of the treasury, who called it was understood, to discuss publicity matters in connection with the coming campaign.

"Only matters pertaining to the campaign were discussed with Senator Harding," said Mr. Shaw after an hours conference with the nominee. "The election of the candidate is the first business before us now."

Ardmoreite: Perhaps the republican convention recessed so soon, yesterday, in order that Messrs. Wood and Lowden might have no embarrassing restrictions cast between them and a good, live chance to spend a few thousand of the many shekels.

SOCIALIST LEADER SCORED BY FERRIS

MADILL, June 14. (Special)—Scoring republicans and socialists of Marshall county for organizing in an effort to renominate his opponent, Scott Ferris candidate for the democratic nomination of United States senator, tonight denounced F. E. Kennemer, candidate for republican nomination to the Supreme Court for his activity connected with the democratic ticket in the coming primary. More than 1500 heard Ferris speak.

Kennemer is Gore's campaign manager in Marshall county. He has associated with him in the campaign former Judge F. E. Hurt. Hurt is a socialist. Kennemer is registered in Marshall county as a democrat. He filed with the secretary of the state election board Saturday for supreme justice. He filed as a republican.

Ferris was cheered repeatedly by his audience when he attacked Kennemer. He spoke on the court house lawn. The audience was composed of democrats. More than 200 women attended. The local Ferris Club had charge of the meeting. Ferris vigorously defended the action of 70 democrats who sent Gore a telegram a few days ago requesting him to cancel his Madill date.

Gore is campaigning this county with republican and socialist managers. No wonder the democratic voters of the county did not want him there. They had a perfect right to request him to avoid Madill.

Yells of approval greeted Ferris' declaration that: "My opponent should now prepare to retire to private life and write an essay on 'How to oppose your country in its hour of stress and explain it.' He is qualified to write a very interesting essay on 'How to Pose as the Farmers' Friend while I favored measures that would have kept cotton at seven cents a pound and wheat at seventy-five cents a bushel during the war."

Ferris was introduced at Madill by Mrs. John L. Derrick.

He spoke at Aylesworth, Woodville and Kingston today. He had large crowds at each place. The Kingston crowd was estimated at 700. The farmers made up the greater part of this audience. He was introduced at Aylesworth by Arthur Leary, a farmer, and by Judge George Marsh of Madill.

FREIGHT INCREASE URGED BY FULBRIGHT

By the Associated Press

WASHINGTON, June 15.—While urging substantial freight rate increases for the railroad R. C. Fulbright, of Houston, Texas, representative of the Southwestern Industrial League, told the interstate commerce committee today that rate increases alone would not solve the nations transportation problems, and that the full 31 per cent increase asked by the western roads was not necessary. "The railroads face three major problems," Mr. Fulbright declared. "First the labor problem; second the revenue problem and third the tax problem. Increased rates will not solve the labor question under existing conditions." Mr. Fulbright declared that the conditions themselves must be changed.

He urged that the railroad use the same diligence in "having the tax discrimination" removed by legislation as they do in seeking increased rates.

ADA FAMILY MAY LOCATE IN CALIFORNIA

FEDERATION RAPS ARBITRATION

OPPOSED ANTI-STRIKE OF RAIL-ROAD BILL AND WILL FIGHT INTRODUCTION OF MILITARY TRAINING.

By the Associated Press

ACCOMMODATIONS FOR TOURISTS ARE POOR IN EUROPE

By the Associated Press

THE HAGUE, June 15.—The thousands of American tourists, who are expected to visit Europe this summer, will be disappointed if they look forward to all the comforts of the days before the war.

This verdict has been expressed to The Associated Press correspondent by many much-harrassed Americans who, in overcrowded trains between stops at overcrowded hotels, have run the gauntlet of passport bureaus, frontier controls and police registration offices, institutions which still prevail in many countries, only in a slightly less degree than during the war.

Passports, and passport visas, are necessary everywhere. Even to make the five-hour trip from The Hague, Holland, to Brussels, Belgium, requires days of preparation, and the days generally lengthen into weeks if one expresses the most extraordinary whim to make a round trip, or several round trips.

An American, for instance, having obtained in the United States a Dutch visa which permits him to land in Holland for a brief stay, desires to go to Brussels—just five hours away. On arrival in Holland he has had to register with the police securing an identity card, permitting him to have a bread card, etc., (for bread is still rationed in many countries).

Desiring to go to Belgium, he must first go to his own legation or consulate, to have his American passport amended so as to be valid in Belgium. This done, after a solemn oath that it is necessary to go to Belgium, the would-be-traveler visits the Belgian consulate or legation, finds a long waiting line of persons with a similar desire, finally is attended to, and speeds off to the police bureau to have his identity card stamped in order that he may leave the frontier. But he must surrender his bread card first—at still another bureau, which is probably closed for the day. Armed with a receipt from the bread card bureau, he returns to the police bureau, gets his stamped identity card and probably finds the last train to Belgium for the day has gone.

This condition, typical of travel between Holland and Belgium, is as nothing to the difficulties of getting from Holland into Germany.

BUCKEYES WILL BOOST GOVERNOR

OHIO DEMOCRATS WILL MAKE
HARD FIGHT TO NAME COX
AT FRISCO CONVENTION AS OPPONENT OF HARDING

By the Associated Press

COLUMBUS, Ohio, June 15.—Now that an Ohioan has been chosen the standard bearer of the republican party, Ohio democrats are redoubling their efforts to obtain another honor for the "Buckeye" state, by having Governor James Cox selected by the San Francisco convention as the one to carry the standard for their party. No sooner had Senator Harding's nomination been assured than former Governor James E. Campbell, an Ohio delegate at large to the democrat national convention, began preparation for a circular letter to all democrat delegates setting forth why Governor Cox should be nominated at the San Francisco convention.

"Governor James Cox can carry Ohio." What other candidate can match this certainty with even a probability?" the leader declared.

Peace Disturbed by Small Pox Case Seeking Pest House

The other morning as the county attorney and his assistant were sitting quietly in their office at the court house reflecting on the essential elements of various crimes and misdemeanors and wondering how long the present wave of obedience to law and order will last, a rather large and dark descendant of the tribe of Ham walked into the office and complacently inquired if "dis am de pest house?"

"No," was the amused reply of the county attorney, "this is the county house. What can we do for you?"

"Oh, nuthin' much," replied the negro. "I've got a bad case of de small pox and wants to find de pest house."

The meeting then and there adjourned sine die.

NEWS PEDDLER GETS IN BAD

MAKES SPECIALTY OF FICTITIOUS STORIES WITH LITTLE CORRECT DATA SAVE NAMES AND PLACES.

By the Associated Press
WELLESLEY, Mass., June 15.—Wellesley college authorities are trying to head off the activities of an ingenious news peddler, who, making his headquarters in Boston, has sent to newspapers all over the country complimentary, but the college authorities say, untrue stories concerning young women in the student body and members of the faculty. His method is to query a newspaper as to whether it wishes a story of which a student or faculty member living in the city or town where the paper is published, is the general figure. The identical query is sent to anywhere from 50 to 100 papers, it is alleged, with a different name in each case for the heroine or the story. These names are taken from the college catalogue.

Regarding one of these stories the college publicity department says:

"On April 23 there went out from Boston to newspapers all over the United States and Canada a set of telegrams like the following except for name and address:

"Wellesley honors Anna Abbott, 60 Main street, to represent college sweeping government economic investigation."

"The story sent to those papers which wired acceptance was that the local students, or in some towns, whose supply of students at Wellesley was limited, a member of the faculty, had been 'elected' by the student body and confirmed by the faculty' as one of the 50 members of a Wellesley economic investigation committee, which was, it appeared, to conduct a systematic economic survey of the United States, in an endeavor to secure a basis for a plan to reduce the cost of living."

"The irritation of the victims, of whom there are at least 100 and of their families, especially of those whose parental pride had accepted the tale as not unlikely, has naturally been considerable. It is made greater for many of the victims because this is at least the second occasion that they have thus received honors bestowed only by this news agency."

An earlier instance was in January last when the agency sent out a story of an "unprecedented ceremony" the time of which was left indefinite, when General Pershing's helmet and staff flag and also "the imperial battle pennon of the German emperor" were bestowed upon the college by the Agrotia Society. The story said a "touching, eloquent and impressive address" was made on behalf of the college by a girl whose name was different in each case."

As a matter of fact, the publicity department says:

"About the only facts were, the names and addresses gained from the college directory, though it was true, as published in the Associated Press dispatch last October, that General Pershing's helmet and flag are in the possession of an organization at Wellesley."

The department says it has been learned that similar stories have been sent out by the agency concerning Smith college students, and adds:

"A regular set of rules seems to have been established by the agency. In the first place, the story must not be true, and must at the same time not be actionable; should, in fact, be supposedly flattering. It should, in fact, have some timely note. In using the college directory the agency takes only one name to a town and even a city."

The college has sent denials of the stories to as many as possible of the papers which printed them. It has also sent an explanation of the circumstances to each of the "victims," with the suggestion that they turn it over to their home town papers for their information.

More Divorce Cases Filed Saturday In The District Court

Three additional suits for divorce have been filed in the district court of Pontotoc county.

Mrs. Nellie Farris by her attorney, R. C. Roland, has filed suit for divorce from C. A. Farris. She alleges in her petition that she married defendant June 12, 1912, and that two children have been born of the marriage. That because of his extreme cruelty and failure to support her she left him on June 8, 1920. She asks for divorce, but is willing for him to keep the children, provided that she is permitted to visit them.

J. J. Lancaster asks for divorce from his wife, Myrtle Lancaster. He states that he married defendant in 1898 and that five children have been born to them, one of which is now married and the other four living with the mother. That last winter he moved to the farm to work a crop this year and teach his boys to work, but that in May his wife left him and took the four children with her. He is willing to divide with defendant such property as they have, but asks for the custody of the children.

William L. West is seeking divorce from his wife, Eliza J. West. The parties were married at Waco, Texas, March 15, 1913. Defendant deserted this plaintiff in July, 1917 and has lived separate and apart from him ever since.

Sam Schienberg Corrects Statements Assigned To Him

Ada Evening News, Ada, Okla., Gentlemen:—I wish to refute the statements your reporter quoted me as giving him concerning the shooting scrape Sunday night. I feel disappointed that he has taken the liberty to publish the information as coming from me. I did not say that "I saw Mr. House strike Mr. Nettles in the back of the neck with a large pistol." I did not make a statement to the effect that "Mr. House then drew another pistol, a 380 special Colt automatic, and pointed toward Mr. Nettles." Nor did I say that "Business then picked up," referring to the commotion. Your reporter threatened that if I did not give him a story as to what had happened he would have to put it in the paper as he heard it. To this I replied, "I don't care," yet this fact did not give him authority to quote me as making the above statements.

Yours truly,
Sam Schienberg.

FERRIS SAYS GORE BETRAYED FARMERS

BOSWELL, June 15.—(Special)—Assailing the counterpart of the McLemore resolution introduced in the senate by T. P. Gore, as a vicious blow at farmers, Scott Ferris candidate for the democratic nomination for the United States senate drew frequent vigorous bursts of applause from 3,000 Bryan County citizens. Cotton would have rotted at the docks and wheat in the shock if this resolution had passed, Ferris said.

"The infamous McLemore resolution drove Jeff McLemore of Texas from his seat," Ferris said. "He met defeat when he appealed to Texans for endorsement. His action were not American. On February 25, 1916, (See Congressional Record 64th congress, page 3120) T. P. Gore introduced a counterpart of the McLemore resolution. This was a virtual surrender of American right to sail the seas. It was a complete yielding to Germany. It gave up American rights to send products to the markets of the world.

"Previous to the introduction of that resolution Gore opposed war with Germany. He did this despite the fact the kaiser's submarine murderers had sent 1,276 merchant ships carrying our products to markets, to the bottom of the seas. He persisted in pushing this resolution in the face of the fact that such resolutions as he and McLemore were introducing, coupled with Germany's submarine policy had shot cotton down to six cents a pound and wheat down to 79 cents a bushel. Farm products were without markets and the farmers faced ruin.

"Senator Gore proposed to surrender our rights to travel the seas. Over the seas American farmers in the year preceding sent to market six-sevenths of their export cotton; two-thirds of their export wheat; five-sixths of their export hog products and seven-eighths of their export beef.

Gore's policy spelled ruin for farmers. He tells them he is their true friend. Was this friendship when he offered to surrender their markets? Was it friendship when he tried to hold cotton down to six cents and wheat at 79 cents?

"It will be remembered that the slogan at that time was, 'Buy a bale of cotton and save the farmer.' Senator Gore was trying to perpetuate this condition. Was this what the farmer desired? Is this the service that entitles the senator to say that he has the vote of the 'hickory fellows from the forks of the creek,' in his pocket.

OLD SPAIN TO BECOME HYGIENIC NOW

By the Associated Press
MADRID, June 15.—Spaniards are awakening to the necessity of improved hygienic measures to decrease the mortality of this country. Several of the leading newspapers have joined in and demand that a ministry of health be organized to give proper attention to sanitary conditions in factories and houses, to reduce accidents to workers and to have charge of the erection of cheap houses for the poor, old age pensions, health insurance, maternity allowances, prevention of epidemics and hygienic instruction for the people.

One newspaper quotes Dr. Juarros as having asserted that smallpox, diphtheria and tuberculosis had increased enormously; that births had decreased and the death rate among infants grown to such an extent that these deaths now comprised 20 percent of the national mortality. An infinitesimal number of houses boast of a bath, he said, public baths were entirely lacking and the houses of the poor were so badly constructed that the occupants did not have as many conveniences as were afforded by the prison.

The Institute of Civil Engineers has taken up the subject and is agitating for hygienic measures to reduce the death rate.

BUG-OLGY What do you call them?

Bedbug (Cimex lectularius). The origin of the name bedbug is unknown, but is supposed to be naturally suggested as it is descriptive. There are many local names for these parasites, as for illustration, around Boston they are called "Chinches," from Baltimore comes the name "Mahogany Flat," in New York they are styled as "Red Coats," around Pittsburgh they are called "Peaky Devils," in Cincinnati and the South "Night Riders," in St. Louis and Chicago district "Grimon Ramblers," the great West "Pilgrims." The old saying, "the bedbug has no teeth, but they get there just the same," is correct. Instead of teeth they possess a piercing and sucking beak to draw and suck out of your blood for their own body. Bedbugs, no matter what you may call them, or where they came from, science has found a way to rid them if you will use faithfully the new chemical Peaky Devils Quicker "P. D. Q." A 36c package makes one quart, enough to kill a million bedbugs, roaches, fleas, ants or cockroaches, and their eggs as well. P. D. ## FARMERS GINNING THEIR OWN COTTON

By Wm. Dee Little.

Eight years ago several of the cotton growers around Ada, Oklahoma, decided that they were tired of paying high prices for ginning, and began to make plans for organizing a company and ginning their own cotton. During the summer of 1911 about $4,000 was paid in as capital. The authorized capital stock was $10,000. In the fall of 1911 the first bale came from the press. In 1917 the business had grown to such an extent that the five stands were necessary and the capital stock was raised and $17,500—worth of additional stock was put on the market. In all $23,000 worth of stock has been sold. There are now ten stands, which the past season turned out 5,178 bales. The gross business was approximately a quarter of a million dollars.

The company had hard times at first, this condition being caused by many things. After overcoming the weak places in the organization and learning how the thing should be handled the stockholders have had no difficulty in making good profits. I know what the dividend was for the past season's business, but the management insists that I keep this out of the press. I will say this much: the men who have stock in that company, the Pontotoc Custom Gin Company, made a larger profit on ten capital stock than any stockholder in any bank I have heard of in this entire section of the state. I do not believe there is a bank in the southwest which made the profits this band of business men farmers managed to produce and divide.

The gin charges the same price for ginning to members and non-members and the same price as the other gins in the community charge. The stockholders profit in the way of dividends instead of cheaper rates. This, it is believed, encourages those who do not have stock in the company to patronize the gin, whereas if members were given a special price this might have a tendency to keep others away. This company has not failed to pay dividends for the last four years, and I am not certain just what was paid the first four years of operations.

This seems to be an age of organization and co-operative enterprises. A few years ago newspapers, farm journals and self-appointed advisers of farmers were urging farmers to organize in order to produce more, market better and make greater profits. Farmers have at last begun to follow this advice and are forming organizations, some bad, some good. Inasmuch as the Pontotoc Custom Gin has made such a phenomenal success, it might be well to point out a few of the practices of the organization. Perhaps such facts will be a guide to other farmers starting such an enterprise.

In the first place, the gin has 240 stockholders. The number was small at first, and it is thought by many that the small number of stockholders had something to do with the difficulty the plant had in meeting expenses. The most of the 240 stockholders are farmers and cotton growers. If they averaged growing only ten bales each, that would mean that the gin would have 2,400 bales a season. This quantity would keep the gin from losing money in a season's run.

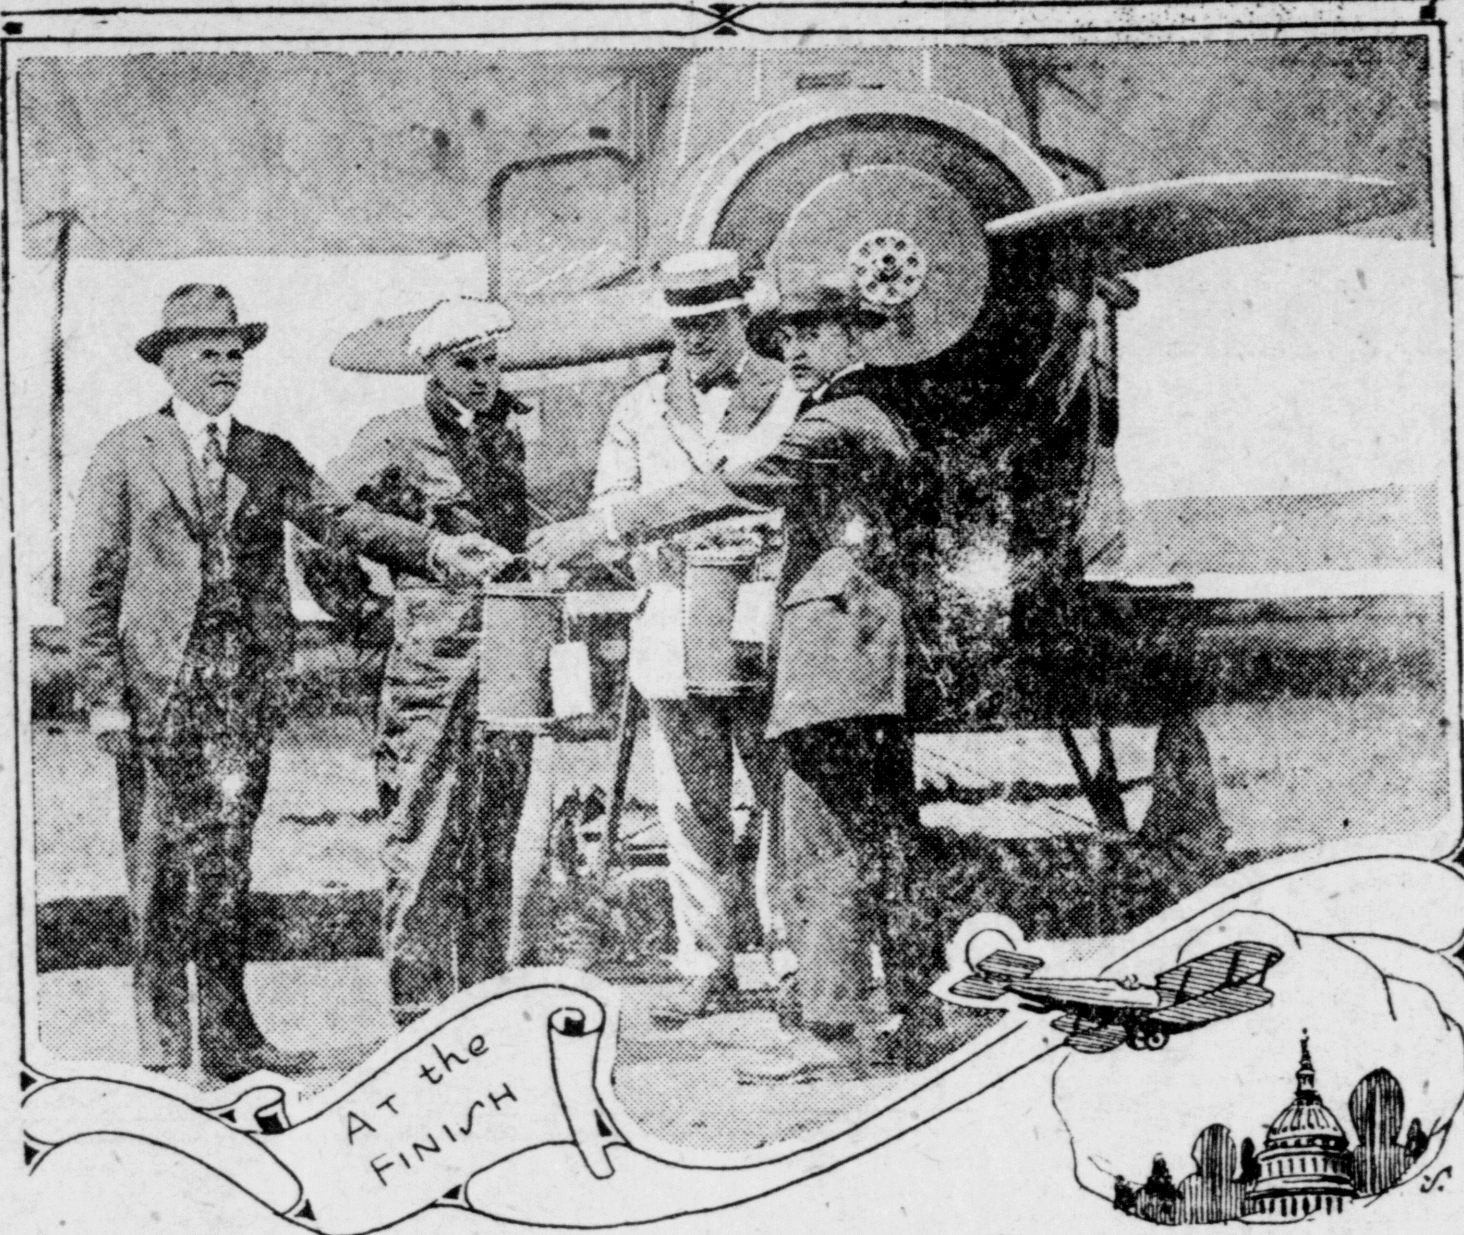

One of the strong features of any farmers' organization is a large membership. The greater the volume of business, provided the expense account is not allowed to get too large, the greater profit as a rule. Nearly every farmer in a community is needed in a co-operative enterprise. Of course, there are hundreds of farmers who do not have stock in the Pontotoc Custom Gin, but the trade territory is large and there is enough cotton to keep several gins running.

After experimenting with several plans, the stockholders of the company decided that the thing to do was to get a good manager and give him power to act. They elected John W. Balthrop, a well-to-do farmer, for the position and gave him a board of directors of the most business-like men in the company. Surrounding him as directors are I. R. Gilmore, J. B. Parker, J. D. Chandler, L. D. Brandon and W. H. Brumley. The first named served two terms as county commissioner and started the road work which has meant so much to the county. The last named is a county commissioner now, and is one of the most successful farmers in the county. The other men of the board are men of vision and deeds. They are not dreamers; they are doers. Mr. Gilmore is vice-president, and Mr. Parker is secretary. C. C. Lea is bookkeeper, a stockholder, but is not a director.

While every precaution is taken in handling of funds and economical administration, Mr. Balthrop is not hampered by petty regulations and held down by red tape. He is paid a salary of $2,000 a year. Mr. Lea is paid $1,500 a year, and the other help is hired during the busy season. Last fall and winter, the ginner and engineer drew five dollars a day each for seven days a week. Some time ago I was talking to a banker, and the banker remarked that many farmers' organizations fell through. In response to my inquiry for the reason, he said:

"I find that in many instances wholly incapable men are put at the head of the establishment. Because some man takes more stock than some others, he figures that he ought to have something to do with the management and gets himself elected manager. Oftentimes he has had no practical experience, knows nothing of the intricate problems of making a business pay, and what is more he does not know that he does not know it. More or less

ICE CREAM SPECIAL IN CLEVELAND-WASHINGTON FLIGHT TESTS ICELESS REFRIGERATION

Washington welcomed a limousine airplane guests from Cleveland. Left to right: Arthur A. Chapin, C. L. Fisher, Earl B. Gaddis and Ralph A. Lee. Chapin and Gaddis were on the reception committee of local citizens, while Fisher and Lee drove the plane to the nation's capital.

Keep your look out! The ice cream man may drop in on you most any time. At least, he is flying now delivering ice cream from city to city.

The first test of city-to-city delivery of ice cream was made this week and while not made for record purposes, it established a record for the longest flight ever made in a limousine airplane and also an altitude record of 19,710 feet. The flight from Cleveland to Washington was made with only one short stop to repair the plane's water system.

The test was observed with interest by Washington scientists from the fact that no ice was used and yet the cream, after the three-hour flight from Cleveland to the National Capital, was found to be in perfect condition. It was carried under the new scientific method of iceless refrigeration, known as the thermopak, capable of holding either cold or heat for a great length of time.

The trip proved to the satisfaction of the scientists that ice is not a necessity in carrying and preserving ice cream. It is understood the new method can be applied to keeping things hot as well as keeping things cold, since even after the flight through the clouds the cream arriving at Bolling Field was in as good condition as though purchased ten minutes before at the corner drug store.

The event proved of special interest to aviators from the fact that the flight was made in a three-passenger airplane limousine. The three men who made the flight were Bernard Whelan, pilot; C. L. Fisher, plane mechanic, and Ralph A. Lee, in charge of the shipment.

On arriving at Washington, a portion of the cream was presented to President Wilson and the remainder was distributed to the little sick folk at the Children's Hospital.

man of more than usual business ability."

After this conversation I went to Mr. Balthrop and asked him for a statement about his company, the reason for its success and the reason why others fail. At first he did not want to make a statement, and did not consent to give any inside figures. It reminded him that the facts of his success were already known to several people, and in addition there will probably be a thousand such enterprises started in the Southwest in the next few months. A statement from one who has steered a company into the dividend class might prove of help to the others. When I went to him in this manner, he could resist no longer. If there is any one thing that John Balthrop believes in, it is in the feasibility of farmers' organizations. As nearly as I remember, his words were as follows:

"Why do some farmers' organizations fail? I'll tell you why, and that is because the men do not stick together. A bunch of farmers organize and appoint a manager. Jones over on Sat Creek has a boy he wants to get started in business. Jones goes to the manager and insists that the boy be given a place. He Jones boy is put on and he fails to make good. The manager fires him, and Jones is a disgruntled stockholder. He has some friends, and the first thing one knows there is a fight on and the whole thing blows up.

"No manager in the world can succeed if he has to be bothered with such matters. Of course, I do not mean that a stockholder's son should not be given a chance. I do say that efficiency must come first and the inefficient employee must go, regardless of who he may be. Probably such a thing as I have mentioned has wrecked more farmers' organizations than all other things combined. There are other things which cause failures, such as dishonest officials, poor management and other things of a similar nature.

"ew have made money mainly on account of the volume of cotton ginned. We have 240 stockholders and gin cotton for hundreds of farmers who are not stockholders. A gin can run to full capacity with a little more expense than it can run to half capacity. What success we have had is due, to a large extent, to the volume.

"You buy cotton in the seed, don't you? Is this for the purpose of making money or to render a service, or both?" I asked.

"Of course, we would not buy the cotton if we did not figure we were making money out of it, but that is not our main source of revenue. There are some farmers who want to sell their cotton in the seed, and we must render a service to these farmers. Frankly I am not in favor of selling cotton in the seed, as such a practice is not fair to the man selling. If he insists on selling that way we believe in being prepared to handle it for him."

"Do you buy ginned cotton also?" "Oh, yes. I spend most of my time on the streets and buy cotton daily during the season. We make some money this way also. We sometimes sell every night and at other times we hang on for a few days' margin. As a rule we do not hold cotton for any great length of time."

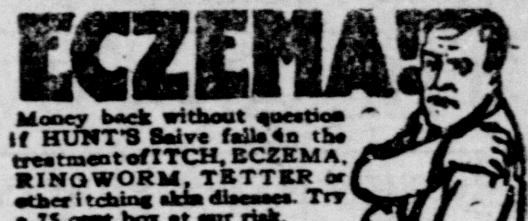

"Have the rising prices of cotton helped you to make more money the last three or four years than you could have made on a steady market?"

"I think there is no doubt about that. However, we do not depend upon the rise in values. The greatest thing we fear is a small crop like that of 1918."

"From your own experience what would be your advice to others who anticipate a co-operative organization such as your own?"

"I would advise them first to get plenty of money paid in. There

THOSE WHO PLANT TREES

Some two generations ago a man acquired the sobriquet of "Applesed Johnny." His only vocation was to tramp the hillsides of the Ohio valley planting apple seeds wherever he thought an apple tree would grow. He has long since passed away from earth, but thousands of people have eaten fruit from the trees he planted and have thought with kindness of "Applesed Johnny."

Nearly a hundred years ago a young Dutchman was appointed head official of a small and rocky island off the coast of Holland. He found the island a barren waste without trees and without birds. He celebrated his advent as ruler of the island by setting out a hundred trees. He made this act a custom and for fifty years he adhered to the custom of setting out one hundred trees each year. When he finally died his island was noted for the beauty of its forests and for the great number of birds that sang among its bowers of shade. That man was the father of Edward Bok, for so many years publisher of the Ladies Home Journal.

Who can estimate the advantages to the city of Ada if every inhabitant of our city should emulate "Applesed Johnny" or of the burgomaster Bok. If every citizen should make it a rule to set out each year for a dozen years at least one ornamental tree and take care of the trees set out, this city would soon acquire a reputation for beauty throughout the country.

What would be the result if instead of planting trees all our people should plant roses? In how short a time would this city become known throughout the southwest as the "city of roses". And if trees and roses have no special appeal to our people, what shall be said of other ornamental shrubs and flowers.

We have various civic organizations all maintained for some worthy purpose and all justifying the purpose of their organization. An organization of wonderful possibilities for the future of Ada would be an organization of citizens whose only purpose would be the beautifying of Ada. There are possibilities here than can hardly be figured in the wide limitations of mathematics.

The most uncertain game of chance is investing in presidential candidates.

Judging from Lodge's keynote, if President Wilson should die before the election, the Republicans would be without an issue.

After unseating every negro delegate to the convention the Republican national committee adopted a resolution deprecating the mistreatment accorded the negro population of the south.

The Chicago delegates booed long and loud when Wheeler of California confessed that Hiram had an inadequate campaign fund. What business has a man without money in a republican convention?

When the special session of the legislature was endorsed last February at Muskogee there was some hope that Oklahoma might be the "thirty sixth state." And when the Russell Sage Foundation made its educational survey Oklahoma did rank "thirty sixth."

Last Sunday morning at the First Presbyterian Church in Oklahoma City, Rev. Phil C. Baird delivered a scholarly lecture attacking fraternities in our American universities. No doubt the question of fraternities is a live question and no doubt Rev. Baird was both caustic and scholarly, but we are just old fashioned enough to wonder what a lecture on fraternities has to do with preaching Christ and Him crucified.

Nearly everything of importance comes from the earth. Even the most vital political, religious, and economic problems come from the earth, or from the rural districts where the agricultural elements wring a livelihood from the earth. The great problem of education is how to assist the rural schools. The great question of the church is how to provide religious instruction in the rural communities where churches are being abandoned by the hundreds. The great question of economics is how to convert a hundred thousand tenant farmers into home owners and how to stay the cityward trend of our rural population. Consolidated schools, and union graded schools will go far to solve the educational riddle. Permanent roads will check the trend towards the city, revive the dying churches of the rural districts, strengthen the rural schools, and go far towards filling the country with homeowners. But our greatest problems have to do with the rural communities, a fact that good citizens are coming more and more to realize.

State Press Comment

Tulsa World: As between Boodle and Borah we are inclined to the belief that Boodle would lead in the balloting.

Healdton Herald: No matter if there isn't enough help to run the farms the silk shirt factories must be kept running.

Muskogee Phoenix: Every time the mercury approaches 99 in the shade the man in the heavy wool suit begins to suspect that civilization is a failure.

Oklahoma News: Now and then we read that Walter Johnson is slipping. Occasionally we read that Ty Cobb is slipping. But we never hear any hint that John D. Rockefeller is slipping.

Tulsa Tribune: Kansans who lost $100,000 when their favorite banker decamped with it are advertising for him to come back and all will be forgiven. No Christ hasn't come to Kansas—neither has the fool killer.

Anadarko American-Democrat: Every time somebody undertakes some worthy project in this community there are the suspicious ones who ask: "What does he get out of it?" just as if nobody ever did anything without an ulterior or selfish motive.

Ardmoreite: "I am satisfied," said Lodge. "It pleases me," chirped Borah. "Them's my sentiments," warbles the man from California as the Root plank is drafted into the republican platform. Is it not blessed for brothers to dwell together in harmonious accord when the steam roller is well oiled?

Ardmoreite: "There's a negro in the woodpile at the republican convention," states one of our exchanges. Possibly he is trying to hide from that committee on credentials as it works to separate the hilly whites from the black and tan element of the republican "solid south."

New Uses for Sour Cream

"The cream is soured!" is the wall of many a housewife during the torrid days of summer. Yet, after all, there is slight cause for despair, for the stiffly beaten whites of eggs, or a dab of marshmallow cream, or a garnish of fresh fruit can be used in the emergency, while the soured cream will serve as no other ingredients can in the making of many delicious foods.

Do not throw away even the smallest portion of this precious cream. The following recipes will show how the small amounts—varying from one teaspoonful to one cupful—the small quantities that are most frequently thrown away—may be made to serve a useful purpose.

Sour Cream Jumbles

Two eggs, 1 cupful sugar, 1 cupful sour cream, 1 teaspoonful soda, 1/2 teaspoonful salt, 3 cupfuls flour, 1/2 cupful shredded cocoanut.

Beat the eggs, add the sugar, sift the soda and salt with the flour, add the cream to the sugar and eggs and combine with flour. Add the cocoanut last.

Roll out about 1-4 inch thick, or thinner if desired, cut with jumble cutter, sprinkle with cocoanut and bake. More flour may be needed to handle this dough.

Sour Cream Mayonnaise

Mix together one-half tea-spoonful mustard (dry), one-eighth tea-spoonful cayenne and one-half tea-spoonful salt; add the yolk of one egg. Soften one-half tea-spoonful gelatine in two table-spoonfuls cold water. Place the bowl containing the gelatine in a dish containing hot water, remove the bowl from the hot water when the gelatine is dissolved. When cool add one cupful oil, drop by drop, until the mixture thickens; then add two table-spoonfuls lemon juice, a drop at a time, alternating with the remainder of the oil, which may be used faster after the mayonnaise has begun to thicken. Continue beating until it is a firm, smooth mass; then chill and set aside. Just before serving fold in one cupful of sour cream that has been beaten to a stiff froth.

Sour Cream Muffins

One cupful sour cream, one-half tea-spoonful soda, one-half tea-spoonful salt and enough sifted flour to make a thin muffin batter. Add one well-beaten egg and beat until the entire batter is light and bubbly. Pour into hot, well-oiled muffin rings and bake in a hot oven.

Impromptu Cake

One half cupful each sour cream and sugar, well beaten; then add one egg and beat again. Sift in one-half tea-spoonful soda and flour to make the required thickness. Bake in gem pans and serve either hot or cold with a sauce or fresh fruit.

Glove Cake

One cupful sour cream, one cupful brown sugar, one tea-spoonful cloves, one tea-spoonful cinnamon, one-half tea-spoonful nutmeg, one tea-spoonful soda, one well-beaten egg.

Sift spice and soda with flour. Beat cream and sugar together; beat in flour and fold in the eggs.

DE LA HUERTA IS DOING HIS BEST CAPITAL THINKS

Adolfo De La Huerta.

The disposition in official and diplomatic circles at Washington is to believe that Mexico's provisional president, Adolfo De La Huerta, backed by Gen. Alvaro Obregon, sole remaining candidate for constitutional president, is making and will continue to make a determined effort to maintain order throughout the entire republic. On assuming office June 1, De La Huerta announced he did not wish to be regarded as the supporter of any political faction, and that "all candidates for public offices and all political groups will enjoy equally the guarantees established by law."

FARMERS GINNING THEIR OWN COTTON

should be enough money to buy the machinery and have a few thousand left for operating capital. I would advise them to be careful about the selection of the directors, the men who really will make or ruin the enterprise. At least a majority of the directors ought to be men who have had business experience. By business I do not mean necessarily that a person must have been in a store or some other channel of commerce of a similar nature. He must know how to finance and make a thing go. If you have a man who has handled money in large sums and has been successful, you will probably find him a valuable man in the management. You will also want one who knows how to borrow money and interest it at the cheapest rates of interest.

"In this connection I want to call attention to the importance of getting bank credit at once. This is especially necessary if you expect to buy cotton. Since taking charge of the company's affairs I have never had to give as collateral anything but the company's note signed by me as manager.

"I remember at one time I was $6,000 the loser on a cotton purchase. By having a good credit at the bank, we were able to hold the cotton and finally cleared $2,700 on the transaction. If our credit had not been good we would have been compelled to sell at a great loss.

"I would call attention very forcefully indeed to the importance of rendering service, regardless of whether the customer is a stockholder or not. We work on the theory that the customer is always right, a theory on which every big complaint when I knew that the business is now run. I have settled customer was dead wrong, but I settled on his statement. I have had customers to come back and want to settle again, after they got to thinking over the matter in a different light. We satisfy, and we have found that a man will not ask for something that is not his, knowingly, more than one time.

"The average man does not want something that does not belong to him. Treat him square, give him the benefit of the doubt, try to render a service that is above reproach—these are some of the things we have found essential to success. If there is anything new or startling about them, I don't know what it is.

"The value of this plant is now around $50,000, entirely out of debt and in thorough repair."

MOCK FISHERMAID COSTUME FOR THE SUMMER MASQUE

By Eloise.

The bal masque is not a winter festivity only. In fact it thrives in the summer time when moonlit verandas and vine covered pergolas form romantic and fitting background for the masked revelers. It is always a task to find suitable costumes for the masquerade parties. One always has a horror of going as a clown, a tramp, a ballet girl or a pierrette, for they are sure to be at any ball in great numbers. It is such hard work, however, to think up something original that a suggestion may be greatly appreciated.

Here is something unique and odd and rather pleasing. It is a mock fishermaid costume. The blouse is of hand-woven fish net with clever touches of red and white forming the trimming. The bloomers are of a sheer silk figured in red flowers. A red silk scarf worn about the head bandana fashion completes the costume. This costume might also be used by the attendant at the fish pond which is always one of the features of the summer bazaar or lawn fete.

Shawnee News: There seems to be a large number of patriotic spirited citizens who are playing William Howard Taft as the most likely dark horse winner at the Chicago convention. No one man knows this country today more intimately than does Taft and no one is better known to the people and as he has learned a whole lot since his defeat eight years ago he might not prove a bad bet at this time.

GOOD AUDIENCES AT THE CHRISTIAN CHURCH

Sermon on Christian Science.
Good audiences attended both services of the Christian church Sunday. The sermon Sunday evening was on the subject, "Christianity and Christian Science." As to the beginning of this doctrine, the minister said that Mrs. Eddy discovered in 1866 the system she denominated Christian Science. The first pamphlet was copyrighted in 1870 but was not printed until 1876. The first edition of "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" was issued in 1875. The first school of Christian Science Mind-healing was started by Mrs. Eddy with only one student in Lynn, Mass., about 1867. In 1881 she opened the Massachusetts Metaphysical college in Boston. The first Christian Science church was founded in 1879. From 1900-1910 the number of churches increased 1250. According to the World's Almanac there were in 1918 1,499 churches, 2,998 ministers, and $5,096 communicants.

Christian Science is to be commended in the following points:
1. The necessity of keeping our minds on wholesome thoughts.
2. It emphasizes the spiritual rather than the material.
3. It emphasizes God's agency in healing. (This point will be discussed more fully next Sunday evening.)
4. It emphasizes the omnipotence, the omniscience, the omnipresence, and the love of God.

None of these doctrines, are however, new. They are old as Christianity. Christian Science has not discovered them, but it has laid an emphasis on them which had been largely forgotten, and for this it deserves our gratitude.

Christian Science is open to criticism in the following points (the minister read from Mrs. Eddy's book, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," edition of 1918, to bring out these points. In other words he let Christian Science speak for itself):

1. Its doctrine of Mind and matter is false. Christian Science teaches that matter is nothing; mind is everything; matter is unreal; mind alone is real. (p. 270). The minister showed that since God made this earth (Gen. 1:1), which is matter, matter is therefore real, as God would not make anything unreal. Matter is just as real as mind. It is just a different form of reality.
2. It denies the testimony of the physical sense (p. 120). It was shown that our senses must on the whole be dependable, since God made them God made the physical body as is clearly evident from Gen. 2:7. To deny the testimony of the physical senses is to deny the value of what God has made.

3. Christian Science teaches that sin, sickness and death are illusory errors (pp. 343, 346, 472). This teaching was refuted by the fact that Jesus suffered. This was shown by the following scriptures: "Though he was a Son, yet learned he obedience by the things which he suffered." Heb. 5:8. Again, "He must have suffered since the foundation of the world." Heb. 9:26. This shows that he suffered once. Jesus himself says, "For thus it behooved the Christ to suffer, and to rise from the dead the third day." Luke, 24:46. Now if Jesus suffered and suffering is illusory error, then Jesus, who Christian Science admits was the Son of God, committed illusory error.

4. Christian Science rejects the second chapter of Genesis (p. 521, 522). Mrs. Eddy claims that this chapter and the first chapter of Genesis are at variance. The first chapter is a divine revelation; the second shows the beginning of mortal error. Mortal mind then had its beginning. But there is really no contradiction. He first gives a general account of creation; the second gives a detailed account of the creation of man.

5. Its teaching concerning prayer. Christian scientists believe in prayer, but prayer is defined as desire (pp. 1, 2, 3). Mrs. Eddy inveighs against audible prayer in words. But Jesus prayed in words in the garden. She represents praying to God as the same as standing before a blackboard and asking mathematical principle to solve a problem.

6. Its teaching concerning the death of Christ (p. 598). Jesus' experience on the cross is spoken of as a "supposed death." Then his resurrection was a supposed resurrection, and so will ours be.

7. Christian Science denies redemption through the blood of Christ. (pp. 24, 25)

Bartlesville Examiner: We should be more enthusiastic in regard to Bryan's crusade if the Commoner could show us how he was going to raise the ideals of the men so that by the exercise of self control they could worthily mount to the same moral level as the women now occupy. If the single standard is to prevail we want it to mean the standard for men has risen to the women's level instead of the women meeting the men half, or more than half, way.

It's a Lie!

It being our honest belief that over fifty per cent of the people are in total ignorance of the real methods of cleaning employed by the artists of today, we write this ad as a measure of transmitting to you essential explanatory intelligence. Years ago a wily and sharp minded gentleman of Connecticut bent his brains to the task of producing some lofty and high sounding name for a secret cleaning method. He must have been a man similar to the immortal Barnum to believe in the ability of that name to hum-bug the people. He wasn't far from right. The method of cleaning for which he is given credit for inventing is known today as "French Dry Cleaning." Well, we are willing to concede to him the glory of inventing that splendid name but never any credit for the discovery of a new cleaning method. Why? Simply because "French Dry Cleaning" is absolutely nothing more or less than the old-time, dependable means of cleaning with GASOLINE! And now about this steam cleaning? Ah, yes—that Steam Cleaning. Well, just ask some cleaner right quick what it means. If he doesn't tell you that it is nothing in the world but warm water and good soap it will be because you didn't ask him quick enough. There is positively only two methods of cleaning. They are with gasoline and water. Of course every proficient cleaner has secret chemical spotters, but spotting can't be expected to thoroughly clean a suit of clothes. The only way one Cleaner can be better than another is to understand those particular methods more precisely, to have more experience, have the PROPER MACHINERY to aid him in his work. The employees of our business boast an advantage on ALL THREE POINTS!

NIPIGON'S BIG FISH THAT DIDN'T GET AWAY

How would you like to hook, play and finally land a great northern pike, four feet long and weighing twenty-one pounds?

Every fisherman knows that the one that gets away is usually of this size, but H. P. Sweetser, of New York, not only hooked the big fellow he is holding in the picture, but took him captive in Lake Nipigon after a thrilling battle lasting forty-five minutes.

Nipigon, which is in Canada on the north shore of Lake Superior, has long been a magic name for fishermen, some of whom travel thousands of miles in quest of its giant trout, pike and other fish. At Nipigon there are outfitters and guides, and Nipigon River, Lake Nipigon and streams flowing into them are full of splendid fighting fish.

W. H. Peck, a New York banker, who accompanied Sweetser, got nine brook trout in one evening, the largest of which weighed four and a half pounds. Other fishermen were even more fortunate, landing speckled beauties that weighed between five and six pounds.

Most of the guides are Ojibway Indians who know every foot of the wilderness and all the places where the giant trout hide. The River Nipigon, draining the lake of the same name, is a boisterous and beautiful stream well fitted to be the home of the big brook trout. Fishermen use flies and also the cockatouche which is found under rocks in shallow places.

When the Prince of Wales wanted to go fishing he chose the Nipigon region, and the town itself is the scene of one of Ralph Connor's novels.

of 15 people and change their bill daily. The costumes are new and the makeup is original. Last night, as a specialty, Mrs. Gladys Ockenlander sang "Swanee", a very popular new song and evidently scored favors as the liberal applause she received would indicate. The dancing team composed of Messrs. Barron and Merrey gave an act that was clever and called for several encores.

Pat Patterson, the original Josh Spruceby, showed that he was an entertainer in a trombone specialty last night and this act alone was a program in itself. Aside from this act Mr. Patterson appeared in the act comedy and played the leading part. The comedy was original and clever and showed that they have talent in this company that is not to be found in like musical comedy.

Berney Broderick and Miss Lona Lemond appeared last night and sang several of the latest songs which met with the approval of the audience. Mr. Broderick is a tenor and Miss LeMond sang soprano.

The company is under the management of Bert B. Bruce.

CRUCIFIED BUT YET LIVES AND HAS HIS BEING

MEXICO CITY, June 15.—Dr. Jose di Gabriele, the Italian religious zealot who was crucified by the Indian inhabitants of Tequisistlan, Oaxaca, last Good Friday, arrived recently in Mexico City, enroute to his home in Pachuca, apparently little the worse physically, but still harboring his beliefs.

Di Gabriele appeared in Oaxaca early in Lent, proclaiming himself to be the Savior and so worked on the superstitious and ignorant Indians that they crucified him, using railway spikes to nail him to a rude cross. He was taken down the next day and survived his ordeal, being viewed by thousands on Easter.

News of the crucifixion reached the capital of the state, Tehuantepec and the governor ordered Di Gabriele brought there. A great procession followed the cart in which he was transported. Later the mayor of Tequisistlan, who acted as the Roman centurion and four other principal figures in the crucifixion were arrested.

JERSEY IS WATER SPRITE'S DELIGHT

By Eloise.

Jersey is the love of every real swimmer. It is the most practical and popular fabric for both men's and women's suits. Women have taken to it more particularly since it has made its appearance in all of the brilliant shades imaginable, and many women have forsaken the once popular satin suit for bright purple, yellow or orange jersey. The jersey suit is usually a very simple affair made with tights and an overdress of some sort. In many instances it is fashioned in one piece, the tights being fastened to the overpart at the waist.

This odd and exceedingly trim bathing suit is fashioned of French blue wool jersey. It is cut on straight, simple and rather unusual lines. Snug-fitting tights take the place of the usual bloomers, and a short sleeveless, one-piece overdress makes a very practical and comfortable model. This kind of suit is just the thing for the summer vacation, for it takes little space in the luggage and may be worn for a last swim because it dries out quickly. Note the pretty cap of bandana style and the bathing slippers, all of which match the suit. The cost of these suits is so very moderate that it really does not pay to make them at home.

News in Brief of Women of Today

With true southern chivalry Kentucky has passed a new state law which will permit women to vote for president this fall. And one Kentucky woman is to start for the coast soon to attend the San Francisco convention, where she will help nominate the democratic candidate. She is Mrs. J. Campbell Cantrill, wife of the representative in congress from the Seventh district of Kentucky.

Mrs. Cantrill has been named woman member from Kentucky of the national democratic committee. The appointment was made by Johnson N. Camden, national committeeman. Mrs. Cantrill is the first woman to hold such a position in her state. She is well known in both social and diplomatic circles in Kentucky and Washington and was especially prominent in war work during the war years.

Among Business Women.

Three members of the Association of Business and Professional Women of Montgomery, Ala., have been especially distinguished within the last month. Miss Kate Uhlfelder has been elected a member of the Montgomery chamber of commerce; Miss Mary Burke has been appointed a member of the Montgomery board of education, and Mrs. Thomas M. Owen has been appointed director of the department of archives for the state of Alabama. Mrs. Owen is the first woman in the United States to receive such an appointment. All three are members of the National Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs.

Dr. Ida Joe Brooks, national vice president of Business and Professional Women's Clubs of Arkansas, has just received the republican nomination for state superintendent of instruction in her state. This is the first time in the history of Ar-

Morrice, Mich.—"About a year after my second baby was born I suffered with dizziness every morning so that I could hardly get around. I had heard from other women about your medicine and had read letters about it so my husband got me Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound which I took according to directions and in a short time I was entirely relieved. I also took the Vegetable Compound before my last baby came and am thankful to say that it relieved my sufferings very much and I shall never be without it at such times. I have told others of its great worth and shall keep on telling it."—Mrs. Ed. THOMAS, Box 184, Morrice, Mich.

Women should not continue to suffer day in and day out and drag out a sickly, half-hearted existence, missing three-fourths of the joy of living, when they can find health in Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

speaks; the maternal, whom your father never mentions; the queer assortment of variegated individuals from whom the bride is sprung; neighbors; acquaintances, connections. Send out invitations furiously to all these, until the envelopes give out. Stamp and mail.

You, leap-year bridegroom, must attend faithfully all parties given in your honor by men friends. You must not falter when the Country Club sends out its invitations to a Better Back-Yard Shower. You must keep to the main street when coming home laden with lawn-mowers, monkey-wrenches, and set-ladders. You must go likewise to the Automobile-Accessories Tea, the Kitchen-Utensil Spread and the Tool-Chest Luncheon. If friends on the 8:18 send you a luncheon set, embroidered with the score of the Yale-Princeton game at which you lost money write them a polite note of thanks. Later, with the gift, clean your spark-plugs.

The young lady who is asking you to marry her will buy the ring, fee the minister and present the usherettes with solid, substantial gifts. Select the music—Sousa, Mozart or Irving Berlin. Order the household linen—hem and initial. Two hundred sheets, a thousand towels, and thirty-three luncheon-sets should be sufficient. Help the bride move the furniture into her new home and learn to cook a few desserts.

The most important thing about any leap-year wedding is what the bridegroom will wear. The hat is important, black, shiny silk, an heirloom is possible, carried over the chest. A slender cane hanging from the arm adds to the height; delicate-tinted gloves, a small orange tree, and a prayer-book look well in the left hand. The long sweeping lines of a morning coat, or the fitted high-waisted jacket—belting—are equally suitable for the bridegroom. On the feet, flat shiny oxfords or tan army shoes, over which may be worn white spats embroidered with the date of the wedding. They can be used later as a calendar. Fine-striped trousers or tweed bloomers are equally suitable.

Officers Seeking To Keep Convicts Here This Summer

County Commissioner Laughlin and Rich Owen, superintendent of the state convict camp at Ada, left today for McAlester. It is their hope to secure an order from the warden of the penitentiary keeping the force of state convicts in this county thru the summer. Recently the state board of affairs that all convicts will be needed on the prison farm for the next two months and that the force now working in this county will have to be taken back to the walls.

The local commissioners hope that some way may be found to have the convicts kept here thru the summer as they are just now beginning to make material progress on road building operations. During the first two months they were in the county the heavy rains interfered seriously with road work and prevented the best showing. It is to be hoped that Laughlin and Owen may be successful in their trip to McAlester and that the convicts may be kept here thru the summer.

CHAUNCEY DEPEW GETS BIG HAND AT CONVENTION

Chauncey, badge and all, snapped at the convention hall.

Cries of "Where's Depew," and "Bring on Chauncey," interrupted proceedings at the morning session of the second day of the republican national committee and quiet was not restored until the picturesque G. O. P. veteran was escorted to the speaker's platform. Although eighty-six years old, Depew walked erect, with firm step, and spoke in his old-time witty style. He was roundly cheered.

Normal and Campus

By Shelby S. Bruce.

Mrs. R. R. Robinson who has been ill for some time is reported as being somewhat improved this morning.

The Men's Glee club will hold their regular practice tomorrow at 3:30. The meeting will take place in the auditorium.

The Girl's Glee club will meet in the auditorium this afternoon and hold a rehearsal. This work is done under the direction of Miss Starr.

The Normal chorus will practice on Monday, Tuesday, Thursday and Friday of each week. The practice hours being from 9 to 10 in the morning.

The enrollment moved to 820 yesterday. Mrs. Carter, who has charge of this department is keeping the enrollment and classification.

The Phi Beta fraternity held their regular meeting yesterday afternoon in the reception room. They will hold several social affairs this week.

The tennis courts are getting more popular each day. Students who like this game spend their leisure hours in the afternoon on these courts.

Students who have not turned in their classification cards should do so at once. To receive the proper assignments it is necessary for them to attend to this matter right away.

The Y. W. C. A. girls are selling a daily average of 5 gallons of ice cream. They have substantial funds for which to hold various social affairs and make the money by selling refreshments and holding concerts.

There are very few copies of the pesagi left and those who have not secured a copy should do so at once as Saturday will be the last day that these books will be on sale. The remaining copies will be distributed to the various schools over the state.

The various gym classes will go on a picnic hike to the city lake tomorrow afternoon. They will take lunch and spend part of the time boating and swimming. Miss Anna Weaver Jones, the instructor of physical training, will have charge of the activities.

The Normal campus is an ideal place these mornings. Students bring books, paper and other study material to these cool places and form classes of discussion. It is noticeable that the majority bring an ample supply of powder puffs and a white compound. They say this combination is very important and the poor things worry themselves quite a bit over the problem of "getting it on straight."

Dr. Winship Here

Dr. E. A. Winship, of Boston, Mass. addressed the assembly this morning. Dr. Winship is the editor of the School Journal, one of the nation's greatest school magazines.

His talk was about educational matters and spoke of the significance of the new life which pupils can be made ready to get an education. He related his experiences while trying to get his education, which was very interesting and he further spoke of comical events which took place in that time. Doctor Winship stated, "Education is a challenge extended to those who desire to accept and learn things." He leaves this morning for Holdenville where he will make an address to the schools of that city tonight.

Tomorrow is the regular chapel and assembly day. The program will start at 9 o'clock. The orchestra will be present and other special features are included in the services.

Captain Frank S. Weir will arrive in the city this afternoon and will have charge of the classes in mass games Wednesday, Thursday and Friday. Mass games are somewhat similar to those given in the army, and it is said that this class of training is very essential in physical training. During his stay here Captain Weir will address the student body and will probably have things of interest to relate, as he was formerly an instructor of aviation in Italy and has seen quite a bit of service in the recent world war.

Young Man.

If a girl should ask you to marry her—and they are asking—what would you do? Are you prepared? Do you know where to buy orange blossoms? Could you, without making use of the classified telephone book, invite the proper wedding guests. Do you know who is speaking to whom and which is whose mother-in-law?

Several leap-year bridegrooms have told us confidentially that they were not so very anxious to marry this year. Yet when the brides asked them, they recalled that ancient custom which requires a young man who refuses, to buy the lady a silk frock. They therefore accepted the proposals, and found a wedding ceremony and reception cheaper in the long run. For the benefit of young men who may be called upon to marry almost any day, we are appending a few suggestions. First, remember that the leap-year bride-groom must always do his share toward making the wedding a success. He should distribute his labors so that the wedding day will not find him a faded, jaded, petulant wreck of a man. He owes that much to the young woman who is marrying him. Nothing is more tragic than a leap-year bridegroom tottering down the aisle, looking like a wilted violet, or a prisoner at the bar.

Next, send out the invitations. If the wedding is informal, write your friends little notes. Or telephone them. If you can't find their telephone numbers, shout at them as you meet them, going into town, at the railroad station.

The leap-year bridegroom should prepare for a crowd. You should remember that you are doing for the leap-year wedding what Mr. Darwin did for the monkey—getting it into the public eye. Women's Clubs, Swedish feminists, delegations of Advanced Thinkers, the press, the movies, will wire for special seats at the ceremony. If your own church is too small, join a larger one. Better yet, rent the auditorium.

Without relatives, no wedding is legal. There are the paternal relatives to whom your mother never
